History 4900: American Popular Culture
11:00-1:40 pm, Mon-Thurs, Summer I
Dr. Susan Bragg

From traveling circuses to slave spirituals to comic books and Hollywood movies, popular culture has long been a site for debating ideas about gender, race, class, sexuality, and other forms of social politics in the United States.

Join us for this Summer I course to explore the significance of popular culture in shaping notions of opportunity and identity in American history.

This course is approved as an upper-division elective towards the Women’s Studies certificate.
