Living-Learning Communities

Living and learning communities (LLCs) are intentionally designed social and learning experiences that advance scholarship and character among their residents.

Currently, GSW offers two LLCs for first-year students that are reserved for a select groups of scholarship students: President Jimmy Carter Leadership Program (PJCLP) or the Guaranteed Acceptance Program (GAP) with the College of Nursing.

The Black Male Initiative (BMI) LLC is purposed to foster an intentional environment centered around supporting Black male scholars on the GSW campus beginning in their first-year. This LLC will focus on cultivating productive academic mindsets infused with programmatic efforts to enhance the Black male bonding experience. Students interested in this community may click the option below.

If you are not a member of either the PJCLP or GAP groups or do not have an interest in the BMI LLC, please proceed to the next page.
